About the College

The Philadelphia College of Art was established in 1876 in response to the interest in art and art education which was stimulated by the Centennial Exposition of that year. Originally, it was a corporate part of the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art. At that time, as now, the primary function of the School was the professional education of artists and designers to meet the growing needs of industry.

In 1893, the College moved to its present site at Broad and Pine Streets in Central Philadelphia. Advances and alterations in the institutional character and purpose of the College are reflected in the successive name changes adopted in this century: 1938, Philadelphia Museum and School of Industrial Art; 1949, Philadelphia Museum School of Art; and in 1959, Philadelphia Museum College of Art, in recognition of accreditation by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. In 1964, when the College's long affiliation with the Museum finally ended, it adopted its present name: Philadelphia College of Art.

From its inception, the College has been a pioneer in the field of design in industry. Through the years, the educational program has been expanded to educate artists in many other areas. Today, the College offers courses in all branches of the fine arts, in art education, community design, and in all of the major craft and industrial design fields.
